"HE LOVED ME," SAYS MRS. JANE HAMON

Heartbreaks for Both Women as the Clara Smith Hamon Trial Proceeds; Accused's Mother Shows Strain Under Which She Labors

OLD, OLD EXHIBITION OF MOTHER LOVE IS GIVEN
States That It Was Dying "Father's" Wish That She Should Rush to Help of Daughter in the Great Ordeal Confronting Her

By MILDRED MORRIS
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

ARDMORE, Okla., March 12.—"He loved me," says Mrs. Jake Hamon. "He loved me," says the other woman in the Hamon triangle.

There are heartbreaks for both women as the trial of Clara Smith Hamon proceeds.

There is still another woman in the drama—a withered little woman with a gentle face wrinkled with care and a tragic look in her tired eyes.

She is Clara Smith Hamon's mother. She is used to heartbreaks, as all mothers are.

She sits beside her daughter in the court room, sometimes holding her hand, sometimes gently soothing her as she weeps. She left the bedside of her aged husband, who is dying in El Paso, Tex., from tuberculosis. It was "father's wish" that she should come. She has reared five children and buried two others.

With her wrinkled hands clasped motionless in her lap, she told today of her girl, Clara. It was a story of mother love defying all the world with its faith.

"Clara always was a good girl at home," she said. "We were just poor folk. She went to work at El Paso and helped out at home with her wages. She would come home every night and study or practice her piano lessons, something of herself. She was so ambitious and never minded hard work."

"I just couldn't believe it about her and this man when I heard things. I couldn't believe it of my girl. She was working for him and seemed to be doing so well. We were so proud of her and so grateful to him for helping her. His wife came to me once, but I could not believe it even then."

Her hands moved and her mother trembled.

"It wasn't until five years later that we got to know the truth. It nearly killed us—father and I."

"Maybe I was to blame, I told myself, but I had done all I could to bring her up to know right from wrong, but girls, when they are in love, don't think. I begged her to leave him, but she wouldn't listen. She loved him and just couldn't understand, I guess."

"She was so young, my poor girl."

"It was him who was bad. He wronged my girl, he wronged his wife and children. He brought only misery to our home. Clara is a sick girl now because of his treatment. It has been only shame for her and us."

"If she was guilty of murder, I just couldn't live on, but she isn't guilty."

"She has suffer so much, my poor girl."

"If she was bad—but she isn't. She's come back to me. She's my little girl again—my Clara as she used to be."

PALACE GRAND'S OFFERING TODAY

Dorothy Gish, heroine of many popular comedies, is to be seen today at the Palace Grand theater in "Flying Pat," said to be her "peppiest" comedy.

The bill at the Palace Grand tonight might be characterized as an all-comedy program. Besides the Dorothy Gish feature picture, there is also a two-part Booth Tarkington comedy, "Edgar Takes the Cake."

Sunday's program brings Mark Twain's greatest comic romance, "A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court," at regular prices. This is the great picture that ran for so many weeks at one show house in Los Angeles.

DR. L. W. ASHCROFT ENTERTAINS PHILAS

Dinner Given Members of Class of Hollywood Baptist Church.

Dr. Libbie Ashcroft entertained with a dinner Friday evening at her home at 1125 Melrose avenue, 15 young people of the Philathea class of the Hollywood Baptist church. She has been the teacher of the class for several years, and relations between teacher and pupils are most intimate and cordial. The rain in no way interfered with the success of the party. The floral setting for the pretty affair was blue and white, the class colors. A social evening followed the dinner. Guests for the most part were college students.

DR. J. A. RUSSELL STARTS INNOVATION

Club women of Glendale will be interested to know that at yesterday's meeting of the Republican Study club, which is composed of prominent women from numerous places south of the Tehachapi, the members unanimously endorsed Mrs. Clarissa Mosher, prominent clubwoman, for postmistress of Inglewood. The incident is significant from the fact that this is the first time such an endorsement has been made in this state. The motion was made by Dr. Jessie Russell of Glendale and seconded by Mrs. R. W. Richardson, secretary of the Republican state central committee.

Another item of interest along the same line is the fact that Mrs. Jean Hyde, woman member of the national Republican committee, has been endorsed by a mass-meeting of all the women's organizations in Salt Lake City for the position of postmistress of that city. Mrs. Hyde has been prominent in civic movements and in politics for years.

NARROW ESCAPE OF ARTHUR G. LINDLEY

Auto Skids on Wet Pavement, Is Struck by Trolley Car and Demolished

Architect Arthur G. Lindley feels that he has had the special protection of Divine Providence. The story he tells of his miraculous escape from death in an auto and trolley car collision seems to justify his faith. He was called to Anaheim Friday to make plans for a church to be built there. On his way home, just after he left Stephenson avenue, on Euclid street, Los Angeles, he found the thoroughfare slippery from the rain which had begun falling a few minutes before. His car skidded and was run into by a trolley car coming from the other direction. It was a Chandler also, and the body was completely demolished except for the corner in which Mr. Lindley was sitting. He escaped without a scratch or a bump. It all happened so quickly that he had no time to experience much fear. When the car began to skid he shut off the power and did his best to guide it, knowing the collision was certain.

He immediately telephoned the Southern California Auto club, which sent a towing car to bring the wreck to the club's garage, and this morning delivered it to the Chapin agency.

This morning Mr. Lindley visited the office of Clinton Booth, who had insured his car, and Mr. Booth called up the Chandler people and authorized them to make the necessary repairs, which are likely to require an entire new body.

Mr. Lindley will be out of the use of a car until the repairs are made, but he is not making any complaint under the circumstances.

Mrs. Robert Hammond of 508 North Isabel street has as her house guest Mrs. Nellie Wright of Sioux Falls, South Dakota. Mrs. Wright finds Glendale so delightful that she is contemplating permanent residence here.

Race Feeling High Since Assault of An Eleven-Year-Old White Child By a Negro

FOURTEEN NEGROES ARE SHOT

Call Was Made for State Troops to Quell Rioting; Shots Said to Have Been Exchanged Between Officers and Negroes in Darkness

By International News Service

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio, March 12.—Springfield is quiet after hours of rioting. Troops from nearby towns arrived early this morning and are cooperating with civil authorities in maintaining order. Guard companies from London and Marysville were the first to arrive. Other companies came in later and still more are on the way.

Race feeling has been high since the assault of an 11-year-old white girl by a negro Monday night. Police have been watching the situation with care, but it was not until 1 o'clock this morning that street fighting commenced.

JUNIORS RAISE $40 FOR PIANO FUND

Rev. C. H. Scott Helps Make Entertainment at M. E. Church Success

The entertainment for the benefit of the Junior department of the First Methodist Church Friday evening was well attended and a great success, in spite of the rain. Dr. C. H. Scott, former pastor of the church, came over with his wife from South Pasadena and took a prominent part in the program. He is a natural comedian and his readings convulsed and so delighted his audience that he was reluctantly released. The full program, as arranged, was carried out and was excellent, all the artists being recalled for encore numbers. About $40 was realized for the piano fund, for which the entertainment was given.

A call for state troops was made by local authorities when a negro shot Policeman Jos Ryan here last night.

Although shot three times, Officer Ryan, who was taken to a hospital, is expected to recover.

Citizens poured into the downtown section after the shooting, which occurred in Yellow Springs street district. Later, however, the white men dispersed peaceably and fears of the formation of a mob, bent on wreaking vengeance upon the negro population, were allayed for the time being.

Ryan, it is claimed, was shot by a negro who was being searched for firearms. Race disorders followed in the Yellow Springs street negro district. Five negroes are said to have been shot, one man, Shirley Shaffer, being taken to a hospital.

In an effort to apprehend officer Ryan's assailant, every available officer was detailed to service in the Yellow Springs street district.

Shots are said to have been exchanged between officers and negroes who stood behind trees and buildings, firing in the darkness and making use of nearby street lights. It was reported that about 14 negroes were shot.

Caught scattering dynamite near the negro section, a white man was arrested.

Before the police broke up a crowd of white men and boys in the downtown section, the crowd had threatened to storm the jail and city hall.

Soon after the trouble started, Mayor Wescott ordered poolrooms and soft drink places closed, directed citizens not to carry firearms and decreed that all business houses remain closed until 5 o'clock this evening.

In an effort to get out of harm's way, many negroes climbed trees, while others, it is said, left the city by interurban, automobiles and on foot. Machine gun companies have mounted machine guns around the city hall.

Every precaution is being taken to prevent the large Saturday afternoon and night crowds from causing trouble here today.

"TWO KINDS OF LOVE" IS FEATURE PICTURE

"Two Kinds of Love" is the feature picture at Glendale theater for this afternoon and evening only. It is a romance of San Gabriel canyon. Nature in all its rugged beauty is reproduced on the screen in this story, which deals with the elemental passions of the people in a deserted California gold mining camp. "Breezy" Eason and his pup, Mickle, have good parts, and the play includes a special cast of Universal players.

Tomorrow's feature picture, "813," an Arsene Lupin story by Maurice Le Blanc, is one of the greatest mystery stories ever produced on the screen. Wedgewood Nowell, one of America's premiere character actors, appears in the stellar role.

By urgent request, the Sunday organ recital will be given hereafter from 6:30 to 7:15, instead of in the afternoon. It will come just before the first evening performance, and there will be no advance in price.

BUICK CARS ARE MOVING LIVELY

Tanner & Hall report a splendid business thus far for March. They have sold three new 5-passenger and one 7-passenger Buicks.

Business is picking up materially with all the automobile dealers. With the approach of spring still greater activity can be looked for. One of the greatest joys of life in Southern California is automobile riding and a more fascinating spot can be found no place on earth for this purpose.

Mrs. Silas W. Bercaw

The great Recording Angel, has summoned from the family residence at 1328 San Fernando road, Glendale, another of Glendale's pioneer residents, who formerly resided at Third and Adams streets for some 30 years. Mrs. Bercaw passed on and over the great divide that separates this life from eternity, on March 11, at 2 in the afternoon. She was in her 79th year. One sister, a resident of Ohio, five sons, one daughter, 14 grandchildren, and two great-grandchildren survive her. The children are: Harry P. of Gary, Indiana; George W., of Glendale; Arthur W., of Whittier; Edward H. and Ora W., of Saugus; Emma J., of Irvine, Cal. Mrs. Bercaw was a member of the W. R. C. Interment will be in the family lot at Santa Ana, beside her husband, who passed on to the unknown about three years ago.

But, oh, beyond this shadow land, Where all is bright and fair, I know full well these dear old hands Will palms of victory bear; Where crystal streams, through endless years, Flow over golden sands, And where the old grow young again, I'll clasp my mother's hands.

Discovers Glendale is Not to Be Credited With Purchases He Was Forced to Make in Los Angeles

WILL CIRCULATE A PETITION

Congressman Lineberger Will Be Called Upon to See That Justice is Done—Letter From Postmaster Harrington Brown

The following communication from Dr. Henry R. Harrower is self-explanatory and is certain to be of great interest to readers of this paper:

Editor, Glendale Daily Press, Glendale, Calif.

Dear Sir: In view of the statements credited to me in Thursday's Glendale Daily Press, I am glad to supplement the information with a letter just received from Harrington Brown, Postmaster of the Los Angeles, Calif. postoffice.

You will recall that the remuneration of our prospective postmaster eventually will be based upon the receipts of this office during the previous year, and that I felt pretty sure that a great deal of the money spent by The Harrower Laboratory for postage would not be credited to the Glendale postoffice, and my suspicion is confirmed after reading Mr. Brown's letter, which follows:

"My Dear Mr. Harrower: I am in receipt of your letter of the ninth instant requesting to be advised if your entire payment for postage is credited to the Glendale Branch, and in reply you are advised that only the stamp sales at Glendale are credited to that branch. All postage collected for permit or second class matter is credited to the main office, and not to Glendale."

"Stations 1, 14 and 18, secure their stamp stock from the Glendale Branch, but each contract station is given credit for stamps it sells."

"I trust this will give you the necessary information, and I also hope that you are not having any trouble with your mail now."

"HARRINGTON BROWN, Postmaster."

If anything is to be done in regard to materializing the aims of some of us and getting a real honest-to-goodness postoffice in Glendale, I understand that one of the first things will be to secure a petition with at least 2000 names on it and send it to Congressman Lineberger, and as the recently elected chairman of the committee on postoffice service in the Chamber of Commerce, I shall shortly circulate petitions of this kind and will appreciate such cooperation as the newspapers of Glendale see fit to give me.

Respectfully yours,
HENRY R. HARROWER.

GLEN EYRIE CHAPTER FETE GRAND MATRON

The banquet room of the Masonic Temple was a scene of resplendent beauty last evening when Glen Eyrie Chapter No. 237, Order of the Eastern Star, entertained in honor of District Deputy Grand Matron Mrs. Anna Barcla, of Van Nuys.

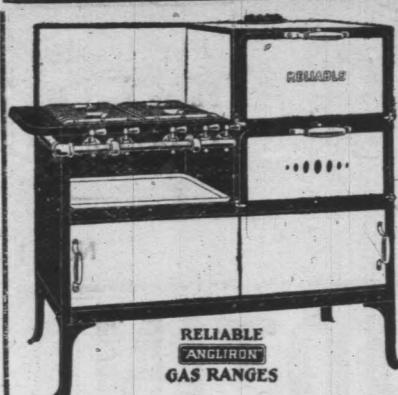

Bouquets of sweet peas, with tiny wing in pastel shades, "on tiptoe for a flight," interspersed with dainty gypsophila, contrasted with the gleaming napery and shining silver of the table, and the springtime motif was further emphasized by the place cards, with their decorations of spring flowers, and the handsome evening gowns of the ladies.

The elegantly appointed banquet was served to a large company at 6:30, and at its conclusion members repaired to the hall. Here the ritualistic work of the order, of which Mrs. Orma Vesper Naudain is Grand Matron and Mr. W. W. Worley, Worthy Patron, was exemplified by the officers with a most admirable finish and perfection, and altogether, the evening arranged by Glen Eyrie Chapter to honor its district deputy, Mrs. Barcla, was one long to be remembered as a most enjoyable one.

As a mark of esteem and affection the chapter presented to Mrs. Barcla three handsome cut glass sherbet cups and the same number of cut glass tumblers, part of a gift of a dozen in which the eight chapters in her jurisdiction are uniting. Worthy Matron Mrs. O. V. Naudain, made the presentation speech.

RUTH RIDER LEAVES ARIZ. FOR MICHIGAN

Miss Ruth Rider, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. O. P. Rider of this city, who has been teaching at Morenci, Ariz., recently left there to accept a position in Saginaw, Mich. Morenci is situated at an altitude of 5000 feet, which Miss Rider found was too high for her. Snow was falling when she reached Saginaw, but, in spite of that, her health showed immediate improvement and the cold that was with her when she arrived disappeared. It will be Miss Rider's first taste of residence in the east, but she appears to be enjoying it. Her brother, Paul Rider, is in the College of Theology at Princeton university, where the year ends the last of April. He expects to secure summer work which may prevent his return to Glendale.

VIENNA HOMES DO WITHOUT SERVANTS

(By International News Service)
VIENNA, March 12.—Interesting figures regarding the decline of the Vienna middle classes are included in the monthly report of the American Red Cross, issued today. Whereas 102,000 domestic servants were employed in Vienna before the war, only 50,000 are employed today. There are 70,000 more servantless families now than in 1914. Whereas 12,000 households employed two servants before the war, only 4500 employ a like number now.

A similar decline is seen among the families which formerly employed more than two servants. In 1910 there were 3400 such households, whereas there are 1350 today. The number of households employing only one servant has been reduced from 64,500 to 33,000. Families employing two servants have suffered most, the figures show.

The municipal council of Vienna has recently imposed a "luxury tax" on all domestic servants, but those figures indicate that the yield of the tax will be a disappointment.

SPEED MANIAC PAYS A HEAVY PENALTY

Judge Lowe, city recorder, was early to bed Friday night to recuperate from a strenuous day, in which he had been called upon to hear the case of the State against S. B. Boyleston, charged with reckless driving and damage to the car driven by H. W. Gilbert of Taft, on San Fernando road, near Vine street, Sunday, February 27. The case was called for 10:30 o'clock and was to have been tried by a deputy from the district attorney's office in Los Angeles, but he was unable to be present and the plaintiff and defendant consented to trial before Judge Lowe without a jury. Boyleston was defended by Paul J. Emme, a Los Angeles attorney. Eleven witnesses were called, and at the conclusion of the examination at 2:30 p. m. Judge Lowe found the defendant guilty and imposed a fine of $50, which Boyleston paid. He also paid the bill of costs, $118, for the repair of the Gilbert car, and recompensed Mr. Gilbert for the loss of time he suffered while his auto was in the shop. But this was not all, as he entered into an agreement with the judge to sell his car.

History goes no further, but speculation is rife as to whether Boyleston will not indulge himself with an airplane and try locomotion in the far reaches of the sky.

PARACHUTE FOR BOMBS BY RADIO

(By International News Service)
PARIS, March 12.—Louis Damblanc, a French engineer, has just taken out a patent for an ingenious device of interest regarding aerial bombardments. M. Damblanc has invented a planing apparatus which dropped overboard from either an aeroplane or airship could plane down to earth several miles away. Such a machine carrying a big load of bombs or ammunition could be of exceptional use in war time, the inventor claims, particularly in view of the fact that it can be regulated to drop at a given point, and furthermore would reduce the dangers of aerial bombardment. The machine can also be controlled by wireless and several machines could be carried in any fair-sized airplane.

BEST TIME TO DISCUSS CHANGES

C. D. Daly, Coach of West Point Eleven, Makes a Suggestion

(By International News Service)
WEST POINT, N. Y., March 12.—Football coaches, officials and graduate managers can do much for the good of the game by holding annual post-season conventions for the purpose of discussing and suggesting desirable changes in the rules that govern it.

There are many good reasons for urging this post-season convention, and not the least of these by any means is the fact that the best time for discussing rule changes is immediately after the close of the season, when ideas are fresh.

I have forwarded a memorandum of my suggestions along this line to the Football Rules Committee. It is not offered in any spirit of unfriendly criticism, but simply put forward as a policy desirable for the best interests of the game. This memorandum, in part, is self-explanatory. It follows:

The following important change in the machinery of rule making for the game of football is herewith proposed: It is proposed that the intercollegiate rules committee after the next football season initiate the following system:

First: A post season convention of coaches, officials and graduate managers for the purpose of suggesting desirable changes in the rules.

Second: The regular mid-winter meeting of the rules committee to consider and act upon the recorded expressions of the above convention.

Third: An interpretation convention to be held just before the football season to clear up obscure and doubtful points on the rules.

The last two of the steps proposed above are in operation at the present time and necessary and the game has long suffered without it. The new post-season convention should take place within two weeks after the close of the football season. It should be presided over by appropriate members of the rules committee. Its sentiment should be properly passed and recorded. It will constitute a meeting point at which schedules for the succeeding year may to a great extent be completed.

Some reasons for urging this post-season convention:

1. The present machinery does not permit of adequate representation. Many institutions never have a chance to express their ideas. This is not the fault of the rules committee. The traditional and faulty machinery of rule making has simply made it impossible.

2. The present committee is to a great extent non-technical. Only a limited number are actual coaches. Many of the leading technical experts of the country never have had a chance to express their ideas. Many of the technical experts in charge of the smaller teams of the country could doubtless make valuable suggestions for the good of the game, if given a proper opportunity for expression. As, for instance, in the cases of the limitation of the forward pass, clipping from behind, and timing of games by the number of plays.

3. The present method of obtaining expert advice after the rules are made at the interpretation convention really amounts to putting the cart before the horse. It is, of course, self-evident that the time to obtain expert advice is before the rules are made.

4. A convention held immediately after the close of the season would afford a common meeting ground at which schedule making would be facilitated. It is a matter of common knowledge that the present methods of making schedules is surrounded with most undesirable delays, expenses and misunderstandings. This could all be obviated at the proposed post-season convention of managers, coaches and officials. Possibly the equally perplexing difficulties surrounding the choosing of and agreement on officials might also be solved at the convention.

5. In general, the best thought of all the active football world can be recorded at this convention when the ideas are fresh from the conflict of the previous season. Wide competent discussion can be secured and undoubtedly the game will benefit greatly.

"PICTURE BRIDES" FROM BULGARIA

(By International News Service)
DENVER, March 12.—Mount Harris, a coal mining town on the Denver and Salt Lake Railroad in Routt county, is threatened with an influx of newlyweds.

According to information here, four husky Bulgarian miners who have tired of single blessedness, have forwarded transportation expenses to as many buxom Bulgarian maids, and the brides-to-be have arrived in New York after their long sea voyage from a Greek port. They will be placed aboard a Denver-bound train and the marriage ceremonies will be performed in this city.

The brides were selected "sight unseen," their prospective husbands not even having a photograph of their feminine compatriots.

The husbands gave their names as Dancho Petroff, Sam Georgeff, Mike Stancheff and Evan Stayanoff, and announced that they would make their homes in Mount Harris.

Affidavits from the brides show that the girls write and speak Bulgarian and range in age from 22 to 24 years.

OFFICIAL RESIDENCE HAS 26 BEDROOMS

(By International News Service)
LONDON, March 12.—Attending a meeting of Worcester Brotherhood, the Bishop of Worcester said he would decline to talk about the housing problem, though he was a bachelor with an official residence containing twenty-six bedrooms.

He would also decline to talk about the hours of labor, though he worked harder than any of his listeners, and did not want his working hours diminished.

Neither would he talk about wages, although he always said Te Deum when he had managed to pay all his servants, even if there remained nothing for himself.

SPARE US GIRLS FROM FALSE WINKS

(By International News Service)
LONDON, March 12.—"Now, where did I put those eyelashes?"

Such a question may come to be heard from any madame at her toilet.

Already popular in Paris "for evening wear," false eyelashes are said to put soulfulness and a trusting expression into the most lack-luster eyes.

Tiny strips of fleece-colored adhesive tape are used to gum the lashes to the lids.

But let intending wearers reflect that there must be no "returning home with the milk" in their new adornment. The remorseless light of early day has a way of showing things up.

Let them consider, too, their predicament if the adhesive tape comes unstuck—a fringe of lashes hanging by a corner of tape!

It will not be a slipper that the future Cinderella will shed in her flight to provide a trail by which Prince Charming may follow her—it will be a string of eyelashes.

SENDS SHIRTS 3300 MILES TO LAUNDRY

(By International News Service)
LOS ANGELES, March 12.—Thirty-three hundred miles to the laundry. Forty or more silk shirts—ten coming, ten going, ten in the wash and ten on hand to wear. That, in brief, is the program followed by D. M. Dodds, a hotel guest here, when he desires to have his shirts laundered. It had the baggage man at the hotel guessing. Why should a man send his laundry 3300 miles to be washed? Every week a package went out and every week one came back. However—"I own the laundry at New Haven, Conn., where the shirts are sent," explained Mr. Dodds. "When the shirts come back I know the quality of the work that has been done, if things are being kept up to standard at home. It takes a laundryman to read a history in a clean shirt."

HIDIES IN WEST TEXAS SELL AT LOW PRICES

(By International News Service)
SAN ANGELO, Tex., March 12.—Although shoes are still selling from $8, $10 and $12, hides in West Texas are not bringing sufficient money to pay freight or express charges. A rancher at Water Valley shipped a hide 21 miles. The local consignee sent him a check for one cent, the balance due him after the express charges had been paid. L. J. Colls, of Buena Vista, expressed five goat hides to this city, for which he received $1.50. The express charges were $1.10. A 42-pound hide from Owego brought $1.68. Express charges were $1.10.

A MOTORCYCLE IN GRAND CANYON

The world's greatest gorge, the Grand Canyon, has been conquered—by a motorcycle!

Sounds impossible in these days when no vehicle but a mule is expected to survive the mile descent down to the Colorado river.

But this is just what John Edwin Hogg, Los Angeles sportsman and writer, has accomplished, thereby gaining the distinction of being the first person to drive a two-wheeled mount, under its own power, a mile down into the great chasm and out again.

The start was made from Peach Springs, Arizona, a small station on the Santa Fe railroad, which in the days before El Tovar was known, was the point from which all tourists made their pilgrimages to the bottom of the canyon. At this point the distance from the nearest human habitation to the river is 23 miles.

In former days a tourist hotel was located 21 miles down Peach Springs Canyon, at its junction with Diamond Canyon, a tributary of the Grand Canyon. Tourists were hauled in stages to this hotel over a rocky trail that with great difficulty was kept open to traffic. The two-mile descent from the hotel to the river was then made on foot.

After the destruction of the hotel by lightning this route was abandoned and the trail became obliterated by the violent rains that rage frequently in that region. The entire project has now passed away "without a trace."

Having made preparation for a furling trip, Hogg left Peach Springs about noon, with a cameraman from the Fox Film Company and a Hualapai Indian leading two pack mules laden with provisions and camp equipment.

With the machine in low gear Hogg battled until dark with the trackless, boulder-strewn canyon, and the party pitched camp for the night 12 miles down the gulch. The grind was resumed the next morning and, after several more hours of almost unbelievable bouncing, plunging and hurtling, his Harley Davidson sport model and its Goodyear tires rolled down to the edge of the murky Colorado.

But piloting a motorcycle from the rim of the bottom of the yawning chasm, difficult as it is, is child's play when compared to the grief a rider must go through to get out again.

Hogg, however, was master and, after another day's terrific grind, in which he fought foot by foot up the rugged floor of the incline, replete with jagged boulders and clumps of thorny cactus, pulled up at the trading post at Peach Springs—the first man to put a motorcycle to the bottom of the Grand Canyon and back again.

WILL REMAIN OPEN NIGHTS UNTIL TEN

Bartlett & French, agents for the Chandler and Cleveland cars and dealers in automobile accessories, announce in the Daily Press today that their place of business at Brand and Harvard will remain open every night of the week, excepting on Sunday, until 10 o'clock. They believe that by keeping open later at night they can be of greater service to the people of Glendale and vicinity.

CREDIT SYSTEM OF CHAMBERS & FELTS

Chambers & Felts announce the inauguration of a credit system that will interest many people, no doubt. The advantage of this credit innovation will be extended to reliable customers. Those wanting an Essex car, but who are not in a position to pay all cash for it, will be interested in reading Chambers & Felts' announcement in today's Press.

GLENDALE IS NOT ON THE CAMP LIST

The Automobile Club of Southern California has been asked to aid in the campaign inaugurated by the California State Board of Health to keep the automobile camp sites in the state in a high-class sanitary condition, and is now engaging the attention of its officers in this crusade. The installation of these camps for the convenience and the comfort of visitors has been an exceedingly popular move, and the camps in the different counties have all been liberally patronized. As a rule all conveniences are free to the traveling public and, with free water and fuel, cooking ovens and other service given, they have afforded the utmost satisfaction to automobilists journeying through the state.

Naturally enough, the sanitary conditions of these camps is a matter of vital importance, and eternal vigilance is needed in order to keep them up to the high standard on which they were planned. Ample quantities of good, pure water, separate, water-flushed and insect-tight lavatories, garbage depositories and garbage incinerators, caretakers for each camp, and daily overseeing of camp conditions are the principal precautions to be looked after. Disposal of sewage and refuse along lines indicated by the State Board of Health is also a regulation which must be strictly followed.

In the southern counties the following camps are the best known, and most frequented: Alhambra, Anaheim, Bakersfield, Brawley, Buena Park, Calipatria, Chino, Camp Cajon, Corona, Elsinore, Escondido, Fallbrook, Huntington Beach, Imperial, Long Beach, Los Angeles, Newport Beach, Pasadena, Pomona, Porterville, Santa Maria, San Luis Obispo, Santa Ana, Santa Monica, Tulare, Visalia, Venice and Van Nuys. Many others are situated in the northern counties.

All persons connected with the camps above mentioned are urgently asked to lend their aid in making them strictly up to date in cleanliness and comfort. No finer advertisement for a community can be maintained than a high-class automobile camp, and its value is far-reaching and important to both residents and visitors.

THE GLENDALE SUGAR BOWL

Mrs. A. W. Carleton of Minneapolis, who purchased the business started as the Royal Coffee Shop, had a rather unusual experience. She came West on a round-trip ticket, fully expecting to return to Minnesota, but strange are the ways of fate. One day, while making a tourist visit to Glendale, she entered the Royal Coffee Shop and, learning that it was about to be sold, decided to purchase and conduct the business herself. Her first step was to transfer the business to 212 South Brand and rename it the Sugar Bowl. For a time she considered calling it the Golden Rule but, inasmuch as she is specializing on delicacies to tempt Glendale palates, she decided Sugar Bowl would be a better fit.

THE GLENDALE BEAUTY SHOPPE

Glendale is having a chance to welcome two new residents from the East. Mrs. M. McCord, from New York, and Mrs. C. Salisbury, who came to Los Angeles about a year ago from Chicago. They have purchased the Glendale Shampoo Parlors at 103 North Brand and will take over the business Monday. Mrs. Salisbury is a specialist in scalp work and Mrs. McCord concentrates on facial work and muscle lifting without surgery. They will do Marcel waving, hair dressing and all other branches of beauty work, and hope to have the continued patronage of all who previously frequented the parlors as well as new patrons. It will hereafter be known as the Glendale Beauty Shoppe.

SWEDES CELEBRATE JOHN ERICSSON DAY

(By International News Service) AURORA, Ill., March 12.—Memories of the Civil War and the famous battle between the Monitor and Merrimac at Hampton Roads were recalled at the annual celebration here today of John Ericsson Day, under the auspices of the Swedish Republican League of Illinois.

The annual banquet will take place this evening with Senators Hiram Johnson, McCormick, McKinley and Lenroot, and Governor Len Small, of Illinois, scheduled as speakers.

The circular tendency has extended somewhat to wraps as well as other lines of outer apparel, a good many circular capes being seen.

SEVERAL SALES OF DORTS AND REOS

C. A. Wishart & Son, Dort and Reo agents at 246 South Brand boulevard, have made several sales lately.

C. E. Lampman of 503 North Isabel street has purchased a new Dort.

A. P. Offut, 355 West Broadway, has invested in a Reo speed wagon, or light truck.

George Grist, who is in the transfer business, also has a new speed wagon.

J. A. Long of Eagle Rock is the recent purchaser of a Dort roadster.

Wishart & Son have an ideal crew of salesmen, if pleasing personality is a qualification by which to judge salesmen.

The sales manager is C. R. Anders, formerly of Cincinnati, "the city which made St. Louis jealous," says Mr. Anders. The other members of the force are H. N. Halfhill, formerly of Oregon, and L. M. Hovey, lately with the Packard people in New York.

These young men make a combination that it will be hard to beat, if this paper does not miss its guess.

CHICAGO HAS DOG SPEED "COP"

(By International News Service) WESTERN SPRINGS, Ill., March 12.

This little village on the outskirts of Chicago, is believed to possess the only dog speed "cop" in the world. Not only is he duly commissioned, but he actually makes arrests of flying autoists, who breeze out, Ogden avenue, Chicago, into Western Springs at a mile-a-minute gait.

Laddie's method of operation is simple. He merely waits along his "beat" until a speeder comes along. Then, like any normal healthy dog, he runs out and chases the machine. But instead of merely barking for a few feet and then turning joyously back, Laddie, unless the speeder is speeding awfully fast, bounds on the running board and then into the driver's seat. After which the speeder inevitably slows down and drives meekly to the Town Hall police station. If he doesn't—but no one yet has resisted the dog speed "cop" of Western Springs.

Never "cut in" short after passing a vehicle.

FEDERAL RESERVE BOARD PROFITS

The Senate has refused to adopt a proposal of Senator Sterling authorizing the use by the Federal Reserve Board of its profits of $100,000,000 for the purchase of Federal farm loan bonds, to help farmers.

TEACHERS' TRAINING IN CALIFORNIA

The report of the special legislative committee on education for the State of California has the following to say about teachers' training in this state: "In 1920, despite recent laws, a number of teachers who had received previous training before entering the schoolroom stood at 79.69-00 per cent, measured for the state as a whole. The range is from 98.1-10 per cent of trained teachers in Santa Clara county to 21.15-100 per cent in Tuolumne." The trained teacher, according to this report, has in most cases been attracted to the city. Dartmouth College has at present 1200 applications for the 550 places in the next freshman class.

INNOVATION IN SCHOOL AFFAIRS

One of the innovations in school administration is the one-session school day. Under this plan the daily session begins at 8:50 and continues until 3:30, with three recessions. The longest, a noon period, is 40 minutes, and two 20-minute periods at other times during the day. The children are all required to bring their lunch or to buy the same from the school lunch room, and are required to stay on the grounds during the entire school day. The benefits of this plan are given by C. C. Haworth, superintendent of schools at Burlington, N. C. The number of failures in the various subjects were cut down materially. The length of time for supervised study and recreation was doubled. The habit of going to neighborhood stores and congregating in unfrequented places off the school grounds was absolutely broken up. The school board and teachers were unanimous in the conclusion that the new policy had resulted in raising the morals of the entire body of pupils, that it has added to their happiness and to their physical, mental and moral well being.

LUMBERMEN AGREE TO DISPOSE OF SLASH

Seventy-five per cent of the lumbermen of California, representing the bulk of the timber in the State, have entered into an agreement with the California State Board of Forestry to dispose of the annual slash resulting from their logging operations in such a practical manner as will lessen the fire hazard and save young growth.

This action is the result of a meeting held last November between the California State Board of Forestry and the lumbermen, at which it was unanimously agreed that slash constituted a fire menace that must be removed in the interest of the public welfare.

The method of slash disposal will be worked out by each operator according to his own local condition, always having in mind the lessening of the fire hazard and the saving of young growth. The State Board of Forestry did not formulate any rules or regulations, although it has the power to do so should it become necessary.

Slash disposal agreements are still being received at the State Forester's office, and it is expected that every operator in the state will eventually cooperate. The spirit of cooperation shown by the lumbermen in agreeing to remove this fire menace is commendable, since it is a big step towards controlling the forest fires which have annually resulted in the loss of millions of feet of timber in California.

TWO SIDES TO EVERY QUESTION

A further insight into the character of the man who for about the next decade, perhaps, will guide the destinies of our country is afforded by these instructions, which President Harding gave years ago to every reporter and writer of the newspaper he owns, the Marion (Ohio) Star:

"Be truthful; get the facts; remember there are two sides to every question—get them both; treat all persons and political parties alike; tell the story as it is, not as you would like to have it.

"Be decent; be fair; be generous.

"Boost—don't knock.

"Mistakes are inevitable, but strive for accuracy. I would rather have one story exactly right than a hundred half wrong.

"There is good in everybody. Bring out the good in everybody, and never needlessly hurt the feelings of anybody.

"Treat all religious matters reverently.

"If it can possibly be avoided, never bring ignominy to an innocent man or child in telling of the misdeeds or misfortunes of a relative.

"Be clean, and never let a dirty word or suggestive story get into type. I want this paper so conducted that it can go into any home without destroying the innocence of any child."

"Don't wait to be asked, but do it without asking."

So this, then, is the newspaper creed of President Warren G. Harding, a creed not of a great publisher, nor of a great Republican—but the creed simply of a man with ideals, trying his utmost to live up to them, and to do his duty by himself and by his fellow-man, than which there is no greater achievement.

BUSINESS MEN HAD JOLLY TRIP SOUTH

C. C. Cooper, president of the First National Bank, and H. S. Webb, of the Webb Dry Goods Company, stole four days from business and its care and hid them away in Mr. Cooper's Ford coupe for a trip through Imperial Valley, the Mexican border, San Diego, Tia Juana and other exciting and exotic regions.

They returned yesterday morning, with many tales of adventures encountered in the 625 miles they covered on the trip. One night, they say, their car stuck in the desert sand, and they rather expected to spend the night there, but being gentlemen famed for push, they girded up their loins and put this sterling quality to work; and with the aid of a Mexican, they finally extricated the car and wended their way to the next town. Another man whose car stuck in the sand near theirs was not so fortunate; he had to spend the night there—not having the push and the Mexican to aid him.

MANY LICENSES HAVE BEEN ISSUED

The official dog catcher is still making his rounds in spite of the fact that 360 licenses have been issued since the first of February. Mr. Sherer estimates that this number represents only about one-third the number of dogs within the city limits that are subject to tax.

In this connection, an ordinance was reported at the meeting of the city council Thursday night for the regulation of dog kennels. Under that ordinance it was agreed that any number of canines in excess of three constitute a kennel. There was some debate as to whether owners of puppies that are on the market should be taxed for them, and that led to the ordinance propounded by Trustee Henry. "When is a dog not a dog?" The ordinance fixes the kennel license at $12.

P-T. ASSOCIATIONS PAST AND PRESENT

The Pacific Avenue P-T. A. met Thursday afternoon at the school with a good attendance. Mrs. L. D. Roach, accompanied by Mrs. J. A. Wright, delighted the ladies with two selections, "How Many Lonely Caravans," an East India song, and "The Prayer Perfect." The afternoon was given over to Miss Anna Irene Jenkins of Los Angeles who gave the history from the beginning to end of the Parent-Teacher organization. It first began back in Germany in Frederick Froebel's time with the kindergarten mothers meeting and talking over their problems. There the mothers of the other grades and teachers got together until it grew into a mighty organization. Really being a very strong association and a national federation was formed during Theodore Roosevelt's term of office, who had strong sympathy for it. Miss Jenkins emphasized the fact that first duty is to get acquainted with the mothers and the second duty is to help the needs of the schools when the school board is unable to furnish necessary equipment.

Miss Jenkins' earnest plea was that these mothers become better acquainted. All there adjourned to the court and were served tea and waters by the hospitality committee.

COMMUNITY WORK PLANNED FOR JULY

(By International News Service)
NEW YORK, March 12.—Organization of the American method of community welfare work throughout Italy is the task which Pope Benedict XV. has asked the American Knights of Columbus to undertake. In a communication to the headquarters of the organization in this country European Commissioner Edward L. Hearn, of the K. of C., states that after numerous conferences with Vatican officials the proposition to be laid before the Knights is that they organize, throughout Italy, with Rome as the seat of radiation, athletic clubs for the benefit of the Italian youth.

Pope Benedict believes that the K. of C. are the only force that can successfully introduce to Italy American welfare methods that will mean the social salvation of the youth of Columbus' own country. Supreme Secretary William J. McGinley states that the Knights are making surveys in Italy, beginning with Rome, to form some estimate of the cost of introducing their welfare work into that country. The work, if undertaken, will be supported absolutely independent of the K. of C. war fund. The entire matter will be decided upon at the next meeting of the K. of C. board of directors in Washington, April 3.

RATS USED BANKROLL IN FEATHERING NEST

(By International News Service)
INDIANA HARBOR, Ind., March 12.—Mysterious robberies in Anthony McQuilski's soft drink parlor were solved recently when police found a rat nest made of $103 in bills.

McQuilski had just placed $92 in a cigar box when he turned to make change for a customer. When he came back the money was gone. Policeman John Bergesha lined up everybody in the place and searched them. None had even $20, however. Then a search was made of the entire store, its cellar and garret. The searchers were about to give up when a squeak from a rafter was heard. Twelve baby rats were nibbling at the edges of McQuilski's $92 roll. They had eaten $1.67 worth before he resumed it.

AUTO THIEVES ARE VERY ACTIVE

Judging by reports received locally from the theft bureau of the Automobile Club of Southern California, the auto thief is being thawed out by the coming of spring and will be very active soon if the automobile owner doesn't watch out.

According to club officials there were 456 automobiles stolen in Los Angeles since January 1; and the theft of cars in other Southern California cities has been in proportion. Los Angeles motorists lost 235 machines by theft last month alone. This breaks all records.

Of those cars stolen, 108 have never been seen since, representing a total loss to their owners of $110,000.

One bright ray of hope for motorists is found in the report that the Automobile Club's theft bureau arrested six alleged and active auto thieves in February. Five of these are held on grand larceny charges and their cases are pending.

Motorists are urged to take extraordinary precautions during the remainder of this month here and during April and May, as these are the months when auto thieves plan to steal California cars and make their getaway to Eastern points in them. Club detectives have learned this from their experiences during the last six years.

Automobile owners are strenuously advised to report at once the theft of an automobile, as even a few minutes' delay in making such a report is of material aid to the thief. It should not be necessary, say club officials, to advise motorists to lock their car when they are out of it for only a few minutes and that the best locks obtainable should be procured, also that private identification marks should be placed where only the owner is cognizant of their location.

In England Episcopalians approve of card playing on Sunday.

THE AUTOMOBILE'S SPECIAL APPEAL

"The automobile, a product of some of the greatest, inventive geniuses of our age, has also furnished inspiration for thousands of other inventors and inventions," says O. W. Tarr, local dealer in passenger and commercial cars.

"Think of the many different types of motor cars that thoughtful minds have created. In the equipment and accessory field of the automobile industry the variety of novelties is innumerable.

"And automobiles have not only been the inspiration of professional engineers and mechanics. There is latent in almost every human male an interest in things mechanical. The owner of an automobile finds in his car a means of expressing this natural interest. He likes to familiarize himself with all the details of its operation. The average man likes to be master of his car, to make his own adjustments and, in many cases, such repairs as may be necessary. He takes much pride in it, especially if his adjustments result in a little better than average gasoline mileage or in greater acceleration, or more than usual efficiency in general operation. And if he can add anything original in the way of equipment or otherwise that suits his particular purpose his satisfaction is great.

"Many a man who has never paid much attention to machinery has his interest aroused when he becomes an automobile owner. Then he treats himself to an elementary course in mechanics. He finds out 'what makes it go.' He learns to take care of his own car.

"The result is beneficial to him in many ways. It broadens his education. And it has the effect of increasing the satisfaction he receives from his car. For the care and attention an automobile receives is repaid in the quality of its service."

TOPICS OF GENERAL INTEREST TO AUTOMOBILISTS

There are approximately 10 per cent as many motor trucks in the United States as there are motor vehicles. The latest registration figures show that during 1920 there were 961,635 motor trucks in use in the country. New York led with a count of 132,524; Ohio, second, with 83,300; Illinois, third, with 64,995; and Pennsylvania, fourth, with 52,605. Big gains were shown in agricultural states.

A steel surfaced automobile race course is planned at Hanover, Germany. The circumference will be five miles, and the track is to be about 140 feet in width. The foundation will be of trussed concrete, and steel plates are to be laid on top of the concrete. Assembling plants and testing laboratories will be constructed within the diameter of the track.

If you own a flivver and are a touring enthusiast you are eligible to membership in the T. C. T. W.—the Tin Can Tourists of the World. Each candidate to the roving brotherhood must vow to make the way better for all automobile tourists and to use the roads and camps in a manner that will preserve them. You will recognize a T. C. T. W. member by the tin can emblem on his radiator cap.

Thugs, bandits and thieves take notice—shun Toledo, Ohio. The city council of that city has approved an appropriation of $30,000, which will be used to purchase high-powered motor equipment in which to run down bandits. Recently a number of outlaws have escaped because police automobiles were not speedy enough to overtake them.

Ho, for the wingless airplane! Final successful secret tests have been made in Chicago after 14 years of experimentation by four members of the Leinweber family. They have developed a screw-propelled airplane in which the lifting is accomplished by two pairs of horizontal blades revolving in opposite directions. There are no fragile wings on the new plane.

Motor vehicles are making America's national parks more attractive and accessible than ever before. Aside from the fact that a majority of visitors to Yellowstone and other parks made their pilgrimages by motor, practically all visitors arriving by rail used motor bus transportation to make the various park tours. Yellowstone has a fleet of 150 busses—a motor transportation organization that rivals the capacity of the big city taxi companies.

Over in Cleveland, Ohio, a driverless automobile came tearing down a side street, turned perfectly a corner and crashed into a car in which Mr. and Mrs. Fred Schummelen were riding. Following the collision the driverless runaway car coughed, gasped and then, as if it were out of breath, came to an abrupt stop. Both cars were badly damaged. The "mystery" car proved to be a stolen one.

A permanent injunction restraining the Kentucky state tax commission from enforcing a law passed in the Kentucky legislature, providing that owners of motor trucks be required to equip them with driving seat mirrors obtained from the commission, has been issued by Judge Stout, in the Franklin county (Ky.) circuit court.

Triangles of War Brides in France Given Another Twist

By MARGERY REX

For International News Service
NEW YORK, March 11.—"For the honor of the family!"

Another triangle of the tri-color!

Another case where a family's honor becomes, oh, ever so precious, after it is besmirched.

On Ellis Island, Mme. Julie Vennet awaited anxiously the arrival of Henry George Deppe, aged 62, of Palmerton, Pennsylvania.

No, the aged gentleman is not the culprit. It was not his love for the fair damsel of France that caused Pierre Bellorette, soldier of Demblain, to divorce her.

Lieutenant Arlington Deppe, son of the man Madame awaits, is the acute angle of the triangle. He is married and has three children. During the late conflict, a member of the Ordnance Department, Lieutenant Deppe was stationed near Dijon. There he met and loved Mme. Vennet.

Since he gave her an engagement ring it is probable that he didn't stress the fact that he was already married. But the husband of Madame seems to have been a man of anger, one who didn't like jewelry, particularly other men's engagement rings on his wife's finger. A divorce followed.

Father Hastens to "Save Honor"

Lieutenant Deppe sailed away from Madame Butterfly, and she thought one fine day he would return. He didn't, but he had left his father's address. Mme. Vennet wrote to that gentleman and told her tale.

"This started a very warm and cordial correspondence," says Mme. Vennet from her station point at the port of New York.

"Lieutenant Deppe's father became quickly concerned about me. His letters are brimming over with expressions of sympathy and affection.

"He was determined that his son's hasty romance with me should not be a permanent blot upon my life nor a blur upon his own family name."

So papa proposes marriage to the fair lady of France in order that the romance which wrecked her own marriage, and what has, no doubt, cast a shadow over the home of Lieutenant Deppe, will not cast a blot upon her life, and that the name of Deppe may be connected always and ever with honor and its ways.

The case has been compared with the Anglo-American affair of the Spikers. Yet here the whole motive of Mrs. Perley Spiker's magnanimity is necessarily lacking to save the future of a child.

Guy Spiker married the girl whom his brother had loved, who was the mother of his brother Perley's child.

Henry George Deppe, 62, father of two grown-up daughters, will save the good name of his family—so he says—by wedding a French matron beloved by his son, and whose home his son disrupted.

How will this insure the honor of the Deppes?

Mme. Vennet does not demand—to do her justice—that her former lover, give up his wife and family to follow her footsteps whither she goeth.

What is This Honor Thing?

Mlle. Babin, whose international romance with Lee Shippey, a "Y" worker, also begun in France as a side issue of war, was also an adept in the art of correspondence. This art, although literary ones tell us it is languishing in America, still seems to flourish across the sea.

Mlle. Babin had a child. So did Mrs. Shippey. That was the reason, so the wronged wife said, that she didn't want to divorce Lee so he could "save the honor of the name" by marrying Mlle. Babin.

What is the honor of one's name? Does it mean that all a family shall band together to cover up the mistakes of each other and present a false front of virtue for the world to admire?

The underlying idea in most of these international romances is that a marriage certificate and the plain gold band cover a multitude of sins.

Emily Knowles married Guy Spiker. She is supposed to be happy. Near her home lives Perley Spiker, her child's father, and his wife and child.

Think of the strings of memory that hold all these together. The memories that a chance word or happening play upon!

But the "honor" of the family is safe, regardless.

Mrs. Shippey, we hear, will give up her husband to Mlle. Babin. Thus will the "honor" of the Shippey name be safe.

The Spiker case aroused sympathy because everyone felt sorry for pretty young Emily Knowles and her helpless burden, the war baby without a name. Emily asked nothing. She had received communications from Perley Spiker's forgiving wife, who asked her to come to America and make her home with the Spikers. Then brother Guy offered marriage. Emily accepted. Another kind of woman might have refused an immediate marriage when she had so recently and so disastrously loved another, but that type of woman is rare.

However all that may be, has all this restored Perley Spiker's honor? Will the world forget that during the war he forgot his family and his responsibility?

Why is honor so unimportant before a lapse from it, and so much to be considered after the fall?

Will marriage between Mme. Vennet and the father of the man who lured her from her husband make everyone concerned highly honorable?

The "marriage of convenience" has taken on new meaning.

PUSH THE BUTTON, SMASH THE HOOCH

(By International News Service)

DETROIT, March 12.—One of Detroit's budding "inventors" has come to grief.

Federal prohibition agents made an unexpected visit to Tony Muski's laboratory.

The officers say they saw liquor cross the "work-bench." They rushed Tony, the "inventor."

Muski dropped a hand on a shelf under the counter. Instantly there was a resounding crash of glass overhead.

Curious, the officers pressed another one of the row of push buttons under the shelf. More crashes.

One of the officers went up stairs and watched while his companions pushed another button.

A weight fell whenever a button was pushed, falling upon glass containers of supposed whiskey, thus destroying the evidence.

"I can appreciate how Fulton felt," Muski sighed, as the officers turned the key in his new "workshop"—a cell.

BURGLARIZED AND HELD UP IN 24 HOURS

(By International News Service)

CHICAGO, March 11.—Just 24 hours after their home had been burglarized to the extent of $2000, two bandits held up Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Ferguson and drove away in their new $5000 motor car. The machine was recovered along with $8000 in gems the two hold-up victims had hidden.

WHAT I DID WITH ALL THE OLD TIRES

This is the tale of a tire. The tale of a tire whose life around an automobile wheel has ended.

How many know what becomes of a tire after it is "all tired out," has big holes in it and can no longer stand up under constant mending and doctoring? When you see a weather-beaten, decrepit tire lying in the back yard of a junk dealer, do you know what ultimately becomes of it? Let's go with it after it is torn away from auto life.

The first step of its journey is to a "reclaiming" factory, where it undergoes radical changes. When it reaches one of those places it has taken from it the bead which contains fine steel wire. Thus far tire men have been unable to find a use for the wire after it has been used in the bead of a tire. Next the fabric is separated from the rubber. Then the chewed-up rubber stuff which is left is revulcanized. This process of revulcanizing brings all the particles into one large mass.

Now our old tire is ready to be made into something useful. The properties which made it valuable for tire use have gone out of it. Probably few auto users realize that they might some day be walking on the very tire on which they have been riding. What they once called a "shoe" for their machine might some day go into the making of heels and soles for walking shoes. Much of the cheaper grades of heels and soles are made from reclaimed tires.

Hundreds of articles known to the trade as mechanical goods are manufactured from junked tires. Gaskets, washers, auto bumpers, are a few of the things made from this kind of discarded rubber. Fruit jar rings, too, have their source in the junk yard.

The tire you toss today to the man who yells, "Rags, bottles!" will tomorrow nestle in the end of your pencil, maybe. Rubber erasers are made from damaged tires. In fact, anything not requiring first grade rubber may be made from worn tires.

One Difficulty

"I thought there was a movement in your town for all the churches to merge into one."

"There is."

"What's the delay?"

"They can't decide which one."

—Life.

BATTERY NEGLECT CAUSE OF TROUBLE

"One of the commonest causes of under-charged batteries," says E. W. Clizek, Willard service station dealer, "is loose or dirty connections."

"It is a good scheme to go over the wiring every once in a while, particularly between generator and battery. If there is a loose connection anywhere along the line it hinders the flow of current and will in time starve the battery."

"When it is found that a connector is loose at the battery, the best plan is to take out the bolt that holds it in place, take off the cable, rub both of the contact surfaces with sandpaper, bolt the two parts tightly together and finally coat all the exposed lead parts with a thin film of vaseline. You will then have a good tight joint and, at the same time, will provide protection against the corrosion that would otherwise result if any acid happened to spill on the lead."

The garden cress, the onion and peas all originated in Egypt.

Y. M. C. A. TO HOLD BANQUET IN CHURCH

One of the unique features of the "father and son" banquet to be held in the social hall of the First Methodist church next Tuesday evening under Y. M. C. A. auspices is the provision made by the committee on arrangements for 50 or more boys who have no fathers. It has been arranged to seat the guests at the table with fathers and sons alternating. To provide for the fatherless boys, the committee has arranged with 50 men in the community to each take one fatherless boy to the banquet. It is expected that by the time Tuesday evening arrives there will be even more of these fathers pro tem. and their boys.

All the arrangements for the banquet are being arranged by the boys themselves, and indications are that their undertaking will prove so successful in every detail that even much more seasoned hosts will find themselves outdone.

The banquet will be served by the Ladies' Aid and a program of speeches has been arranged, as follows: "Our Dads," Dale Wood, Glendale Hi-Y club; "Team Work for Father and Son," A. L. Ferguson, vice principal Glendale Union High school; "Father Through a Boy's Specks," Lyle McAllister, president Glendale Intermediate Y group; "What a Son Expects From His Father," Paul Edmonds, Glendale Hi-Y club; "The Greatest Profession—That of Being a Father," Dr. John Brown, Jr., senior secretary of the physical department of the international committee Y. M. C. A., and for four years a major in the Canadian army in France.

Those who have heard Dr. Brown say a treat is in store for those who attend this "father and son" banquet.

Cruelty to Scotchmen

The origin of the bagpipe was being discussed, the representatives of different nations eagerly disclaiming responsibility or the atrocity. Finally an Irishman said: "Well, I'll tell you the truth about it. The Irish invented it and sold it to the Scotch as a joke; and the Scotch ain't seen the joke yet." The Watchman-Examiner (N. Y.).

NOT EXCITED OVER $500,000 LEFT HIM

(By International News Service)
CHICAGO, March 12.—Mathias Bova, gardener at the Rosehill cemetery, isn't getting excited over the $500,000 he shortly will inherit from his sister, Mrs. Theodore Prieur, in Luxemburg.

"What will I do? Well, I'll go right on smoking comfortably like always, and I suppose I'll take a long rest when I get all ready to arrange about it. I've had a lot of adventure in my life. Now I like to be comfortable, that's all."

"I ran away from Luxemburg when I was a little boy and went to Argentina. I came to America on a German freighter. I've been everywhere."

"But I never liked any place better than around Chicago. I've been working in the cemetery for ten years."

"I have four children—all good children, too. Three of them are married. They'll be glad to hear about all this money. Gladder than I am, perhaps, because young folk always need money and think it's important. I used to. Now I know that happiness is always first, and if there comes money—welcome!"

SPECIAL NOTICES

PHYSICAL CULTURE CLASS FOR WOMEN

A physical Culture Class for Women under the auspices of the Parent-Teachers' Association Federation, will be started next Friday morning in Glendale. This is an opportunity no woman should lose. No strenuous work, but simple, attractive program of rhythmic exercises for developing grace and suppleness of body, folk dances and games for fun and recreation. Every woman desires grace of body, rosy cheeks, bright eyes, and a happy outlook on life; join the P. T. A. physical culture class and obtain pep.

Every Friday morning, 10 o'clock sharp, Hurtt's Hall, 610 E. Broadway. Do not miss the first, very important lesson, next Friday, March 18. For further particulars phone Mrs. J. R. White (pres. P. T. A. Federation), Mrs. H. A. McPherson, Mrs. Harry Ducey, Mrs. Nanno Woods or Mrs. H. W. Yarrick (pres. High School P. T. A.).

NOTICE!

ANY CITIZENS of Glendale and vicinity, who have copies of magazines they have read and which they wish to devote to a good purpose, should leave them at the Glendale Public Library, whence they will be distributed by the Women's Auxiliary of the American Legion, Post No. 127, to hospitals caring for ex-service men of the late world war. Consecutive numbers and as late as possible should be sent.

PHYSICIAN AND EX-SERVICE MAN

Dr. H. V. Brown, Candidate for High School Trustee, Man of Varied Talents

Dr. H. V. Brown of this city who is now a candidate for the office of high school trustee, is very well known among the medical fraternity by reason of having been a member of the State Board of Medical Examiners since 1913. When there was a call for physicians to serve in the great war he was among the first to indicate his willingness to go, although it meant sacrifice, not alone to himself but to Mrs. Brown, who accepted a position in the city schools and served as secretary at the intermediate until her husband returned and resumed his practice. The work, however, was a welcome distraction in those times we are so fast forgetting when the souls of women were sorely tried and their hearts wrung. However, his hope to cross the ocean was not realized and he returned whole and sound.

The doctor and his wife are no less public spirited in matters of civic interest and, though he did not exactly "hanker" for the job, his friends, who know his qualifications for the office, were able to persuade him to allow his name to be used as a school trustee candidate. While he is now a devoted Californian, he was born in Iowa in 1875. He was one of nine children and a son of a veteran of the Civil War, who lost his right arm in battle under the leadership of General Sherman.

Dr. Brown's journalistic experience was gained while associated with his father in conducting a newspaper for ten years. He did not quite complete his college course because of his father's great need of his assistance.

For ten years he was a practicing physician in Los Angeles and then succumbed to the lure of Glendale, which has kept him as her devoted admirer and well wisher ever since.

The family life of the Browns is charming, as they are all musical and are able to get a great deal of enjoyment for themselves and their friends from their musical work. The doctor's daughter is a senior in high school and he has other children in the intermediate and Columbus avenue schools, who keep him in close touch with the whole school system.
